Susan is the Partner-in-Charge (PIC) of CB&H's Washington practice and leads the Firm's Federal Government Services practice. She has over 20 years of progressive accounting and finance experience, and extensive government knowledge through her work with numerous government contractors and federal agencies.

Susan focuses her practice by providing a myriad of accounting and consulting services to the Firm's federal government and government contractor clients. She previously led the Firm's Government Contractor Services Group before focusing more of her time directly in the federal arena. Susan frequently speaks on topics of interest to the government and construction industries, and has contributed many articles to association and industry publications.

Some of the industry-specific services that Susan provides to government contractors and federal agencies include accounting systems implementation, strategic assessment plans, business process reviews, cost allocation plans, proposal pricing and cost strategies, and other government compliance matters. Susan is also frequently called upon to provide litigation support and expert testimony on a variety of complex business issues for government contract and construction matters.

Susan began her career as an auditor with a national accounting firm prior to joining the private sector. In the private sector, Susan served as a project accounting manager for a large real estate corporation with federal projects, as a controller for one of the Hampton Roads area's largest government contractors, and as the chief financial officer for a federal contractor with international operations. Susan joined CB&H in 1997, became a partner in 1999, and moved to Northern Virginia as PIC in 2006.

Susan graduated from Virginia Commonwealth University with a Bachelor of Science in Accounting. She is active in many professional organizations, including the National Contract Management Association (NCMA), the Association of Government Accountants (AGA), the Industry Advisory Council (IAC), the Greater Washington Board of Trade, and the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce Women's Business Council (FCC WBC).

Susan is active locally in a number of civic, charitable and youth sports organizations, and serves on the Board of Directors for DC Habitat for Humanity as well as Project Healing Waters Fly Fishing. In 2000, Susan was named to the "Top 40 Under 40" for her contributions to the business and civic community.
